Abstracts

The report requires updating with new data and is sent in 48 hours after order is placed.

In this report, LP Information covers the present scenario (with the base year being 2017) and the growth prospects of global Isotropic and Extruded Graphite market for 2018-2023.

Isotropic graphite is a kind of graphite material that crystals are disorderly arranged while having an isotropic structure. Isotropic graphite is a ultra-fine grain graphite used for applications where the mechanical properties of other fine grain graphite are inadequate. Its name is derived from the method of production: During the forming process the material is isostatically pressed i.e. with equal pressure from every side. Therefore the material shows typically an isotropic property behavior.

Nowadays, in the developed countries, the Isotropic and Extruded Graphite industry is on a higher level than other countries, the world's large enterprises are mainly concentrated in Japan, USA, European and China. Meanwhile, the leading companies have variety products, strong R & D capability, the technical level is in a leading position.

Although sales of Isotropic and Extruded Graphite brought a lot of opportunities, the study group recommends the new entrants just having money but without technical advantage and downstream support do not enter into the Isotropic and Extruded Graphite field.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Isotropic and Extruded Graphite will register a 1.9% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ 840 million by 2023, from US$ 750 million in 2017.
