Abstracts

The report requires updating with new data and is sent in 48 hours after order is placed.

In this report, LP Information covers the present scenario (with the base year being 2017) and the growth prospects of global Lambskin Condom market for 2018-2023. A condom is a sheath-shaped barrier device, used during sexual intercourse to reduce the probability of pregnancy or a sexually transmitted infection (STI). There are both male and female condoms. Their use greatly decreases the risk of gonorrhea, chlamydia, trichomoniasis, hepatitis B, and HIV/AIDS. They also to a lesser extent protect against genital herpes, human papillomavirus (HPV), and syphilis. Condoms made from sheep intestines, labeled 'lambskin', are available. Although they are generally effective as a contraceptive by blocking sperm, it is presumed that they are likely less effective than latex in preventing the transmission of agents that cause STDs, because of pores in the material. Some believe that lambskin condoms provide a more 'natural' sensation, and they lack the allergens that are inherent to latex.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Lambskin Condom will register a xx% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ xx million by 2023, from US$ xx million in 2017.
