Abstracts

The report requires updating with new data and is sent in 48 hours after order is placed.

In this report, LP Information covers the present scenario (with the base year being 2017) and the growth prospects of global Lentinan market for 2018-2023.

Lentinan is a beta-glucan (a type of polysaccharide) from the mushroom lentinus edodes (shiitake mushroom). It has been studied in Japan as a treatment for cancer. As an intravenous biological response modifier, lentinan features potent antitumor effects, remarkably prolonged life, improved life quality and mild side effects. First developed by Japan, lentinan was approved to enter China in 1988. Although the practical use has confirmed lentinan's efficacy, its market size has been limited due to its high price. After entering the 21st century, lentinan has become able to be produced domestically at a relatively low price. Therefore, its market size grows at an increasing rate. Now, China is the dominate producer of lentinan, the production is 84528 Kg in 2015, according for about 67.85% of the total amount, followed by Japan, with the production market share of 15.72%. China also has the highest production growth rate of 6.00% from 2011 to 2015. Even though a huge space for growth in the Chinese market exists, the quality and technology should further improve.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Lentinan will register a 3.7% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ 11 million by 2023, from US$ 9 million in 2017.
