In this report, LP Information covers the present scenario (with the base year being 2017) and the growth prospects of global Log Homes market for 2018-2023.

Log home, or called log house, is a structure built with horizontal logs interlocked at the corners by notching. Logs may be round, squared or hewn to other shapes, either handcrafted or milled.

Household market is the largest consumer market of log homes worldwide. The origin of the log structure is uncertain. It is possible that it began in northern Europe sometime in the Bronze Age. By the time Europeans began to settle in America, there was a long tradition of using logs for houses, barns, and other outbuildings in the Scandinavian countries, Germany, and Northern Russia. These regions had vast stands of softwood timber that could easily be worked with simple hand tools. According to C. A. Weslager, whose book on log cabins is considered a classic, the Finns, as well as the Swedes, had a 'close attunement' with the forests, and both groups had well-developed forest industries.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Log Homes will register a xx% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ xx million by 2023, from US$ xx million in 2017.
