In this report, LP Information covers the present scenario (with the base year being 2017) and the growth prospects of global Ultra High Performance (UHP) Tire market for 2018-2023.

UHP tires really can improve the performance of a vehicle. They enhance a car's grip and cornering capability, and better dissipate heat. But they also come with a trade-off: They tend to wear out faster than regular all-season tires usually found on family cars. The high growth of global UHP tire market is backed by increasing consumer demand for high performance vehicles. Some of the other factors that would fuel the market are growing inclination of automakers towards UHP tires as OEM fitment and increasing investments by leading tire manufacturers

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Ultra High Performance (UHP) Tire will register a xx% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ xx million by 2023, from US$ xx million in 2017.
