Abstracts

The report requires updating with new data and is sent in 48 hours after order is placed.

A bias tire consists of multiple rubber plies overlapping each other. The crown and sidewalls are interdependent. The overlapped plies form a thick layer that is less flexible and more sensitive to overheating.

A bias tire will have a stiffer sidewall and shoulder, which will increase heat buildup in the tire.

On a bias tire, the cords run at a 32 degree angle from the direction of travel. The B, C, and D is the load range of a tire. This is the maximum weight that the tire can carry at a specified maximum load inflation. The B is a 4-ply rated tire, the C is a 6-ply rated tire, and the D is a 8-ply rated tire.

The load range is stamped on each tire and right after the load range letter is the maximum weight at maximum psi for that tire. The load range weight capacity will also vary depending on the size of the tire. Trailer tires will always need to be inflated to the maximum psi that is specified on the tire.

There are companies adding new capacities and aims at the cost and quality leadership which shall improve profitability. As the same time, companies are focusing on technological innovation, equipment upgrades, and process improvements, to reduce costs and improve quality. The construction of bias tire in the market has had a negative impact because of the policy implications.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Bias Tire will register a -3.4% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ 3540 million by 2023, from US$ 4360 million in 2017.
