Oxidation Hair Dyes use chemicals that strip the hair of its natural color and replace it with another color—a permanent dye.

Oxidation hair dyes tend to be the most popular dyes on the market today. These products will have the most long-lasting results, given that the dye fully penetrates the hair shaft. Although the colour may fade and new roots will grow in, the permanent dye will remain in the hair until it is trimmed away. Commonly used dyes are p-phenylenediamine (PPD) and p-toluendiamine (PTD). These substances are categorised respectively as extreme and strong sensitisers. Common coupling agents are resorcinol and naphthols.

Consumers use hair color and dye not only to cover gray hair but also to make a style statement. Consumers' desire to look fashionable is thus driving the oxidation hair color market. L'Oréal, Henkel, HOYU, Kao and COTY, Shiseido, Godrej are leaders in this market. With various brands, they composed of most of the market share.

The retail chain is the major distribution partner for every beauty and personal care manufacturer, as the majority of sales are from retail outlets. The current shift in the retail industry from a more traditional unorganized retail format to organized retail has accelerated the growth of the retail industry. Oxidation Hair color products are kept in a separate section in retail stores. This segmentation of oxidation hair color products as an exclusive item for hair care creates prioritized impact of the product on the consumers.

Over the next five years, LPI(LP Information) projects that Oxidation Hair Dye will register a 8.4% CAGR in terms of revenue, reach US$ 28500 million by 2023, from US$ 19100 million in 2017.
