Agates are semi-precious gemstones that are a variegated form of chalcedony, which is silicon dioxide in the form of microscopic fibrous quartz crystals.

Agates naturally develop when an empty pocket inside a host rock fills in molecule-by-molecule, layer-by-layer as these microcrystals self-organize to form concentric bands or other patterns. The colors and arrangement of the microcrystals are influenced by changes in pressure, temperature, and mineral content that occur during the formation process.

Unlike other gemstones, each agate is unique. Even slabs cut from the same specimen will vary in color and design.

Global Agate key players include Antolini, Bartky Minerals, Xinlitun Agate, Yangji Agate, Xinchangbao Agate, etc. Global top five manufacturers hold a share over 15%.

China is the largest market, with a share about 50%, followed by America and EMEA, both have a share over 25%.

In terms of product, Gray is the largest segment, with a share over 60%. And in terms of application, the largest application is Decoration, followed by Grind Products, etc.
