The global Aging in Bathroom Products market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2022 to US$ million in 2029; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2023 to 2029.

The increasing developments in the construction sector of residential buildings, hotels, restaurants, and airports, coupled with the growing need for convenient bathrooms, present lucrative opportunities for players in the aging bathroom products industry. In addition, the rising prominence of multi-functionality bathroom fixtures with aesthetic appeal is boosting the demand for these products.

Most aged individuals decide to stay at home as the overall population ages and delays living in assisted living facilities as long as possible. However, to ensure safety, home improvements are essential for aged individuals. This is particularly true for bathroom designs for older people with chronic diseases or disabilities. 90% of elderly individuals say that they intend to stay in their homes for at least another ten years, according to the recent United States Aging Survey of 2022.

The rising cases of injuries, surgeries, and disabilities among the elderly increase the risk of slips and falls in the bathroom without assistance. Many older persons require help using the restroom but may feel self-conscious while asking for assistance. However, help in the bathroom is essential to prevent an aged adult from slipping, falling, or suffering any other injuries on the slippery and harsh surfaces of a bathroom. A restroom is another dangerous place for the elderly. Wet bathroom flooring creates a dangerous environment where falls are likely to happen. Even worse, senior citizens often suffer from bowel diseases, necessitating a rush to use the restroom, and falls frequently occur due to this.
