An AI Drama Generator is a software platform or system that uses generative artificial intelligence to automatically transform text stories, scripts, plot outlines, character settings, images, or other multimodal inputs into video content with structured and continuous narratives. These platforms typically integrate large language models, text-to-image and image-to-image generation, text-to-video and image-to-video models, character consistency control, automated storyboarding, AI voice generation, lip synchronization, background music, subtitle generation, and intelligent editing capabilities, enabling partial or end-to-end automation of the production workflow from script development and character or scene design to shot generation and final video output. Compared with general-purpose AI video generators, AI Drama Generators place greater emphasis on multi-character interaction, cross-shot and cross-episode consistency, narrative continuity, and scalable episodic production. They are primarily used in vertical short dramas, AI-generated motion comics, animated storytelling, social media content, advertising and marketing, and film and television pre-production.
