Abstracts

The global AI Video Interview market size is predicted to grow from US$ 882 million in 2025 to US$ 1998 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 13.5% from 2026 to 2032.

AI video interview is to analyze the content of the candidates' answers, facial expressions and voice characteristics. AI will automatically match the competency model of the position, evaluate and score, and finally provide a talent evaluation report. From the perspective of efficiency improvement, HR can evaluate all candidates in the same time period and quickly select candidates that best meet the job competency requirements, so as to meet the requirements of 'talent quality'.

The growth of AI video interviews is mainly driven by companies' demand for efficient recruitment, the widespread adoption of remote work, intensified global competition for talent, and the rapid maturation of AI technology. Companies want to quickly identify high-potential candidates in the initial screening stage, and advancements in AI in areas such as speech recognition, content analysis, and emotion recognition have made automated assessment possible. However, factors such as algorithmic fairness, data privacy compliance, candidate acceptance of AI assessments, and model transparency still limit market development. In the future, AI video interviews will evolve towards greater transparency, explainability, and compliance, with algorithmic bias control, anti-cheating capabilities, and deep integration with ATS/HRIS becoming key competitive areas. Simultaneously, AI will upgrade from an 'auxiliary screening tool' to an 'intelligent recruitment decision engine,' playing a greater role in scenarios such as large-scale recruitment, campus recruitment, and customer service/sales position screening.
