The global Al-Zn Coated Steel Coils market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2026 to 2032.

Al-Zn coated steel coils refer to steel coils that have been coated with a protective layer of an alloy composed of aluminum (Al) and zinc (Zn). This coating, commonly known as Galvalume or Zinalume, is applied to the steel substrate through a hot-dip process, providing enhanced corrosion resistance and other beneficial properties.

Al-Zn coated steel coils are gaining prominence in the market, with a steady position driven by the increasing demand for high-performance and corrosion-resistant materials in industries such as construction and automotive manufacturing. The market size of these coils is expanding gradually, experiencing rapid sales growth, particularly for applications in building structures, automotive manufacturing, and household appliances. The aluminum-zinc coating not only provides outstanding corrosion resistance but also performs well in high-temperature environments. Looking ahead, as sustainable construction practices and the development of new energy vehicles continue to evolve, Al-Zn coated steel coils are poised for broader applications and further market development.
