Abstracts

The global Anti-Fog Cleaning Cloth market size is predicted to grow from US$ 434 million in 2025 to US$ 547 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 3.4% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2024, global sales of Anti-Fog Cleaning Cloth reached approximately 360 million units, with an average market price of about USD 1.2 per unit, an annual production capacity of roughly 430 million units, and an industry-average gross margin of approximately 28%.

An anti?fog cleaning cloth is a microfiber or pre?treated wipe designed for eyewear, goggles, camera lenses, automotive mirrors and display screens, combining cleaning performance with fog?prevention capability. It achieves this through anti?fog coatings, hydrophilic/hydrophobic film treatments or nano?fiber structures that disperse condensation and maintain clear vision.

In the supply chain: upstream includes high?polymer fiber fabrics (e.g., ultra/fine microfiber), anti?fog functional coating agents, and packaging material suppliers; the downstream serves eyewear makers, protective equipment manufacturers, automotive mirror or display suppliers, and retail/consumer channels. Cost?structure wise: raw fabric accounts for about 45% of cost, anti?fog coating chemistry about 30%, processing (coating, cutting, packaging) about 15%, and the remaining 10% for packaging, logistics and marketing. Regarding downstream consumption: for typical eyewear, about 1–2 cloths per year are used per pair of coated lenses; in industrial goggles or automotive mirror applications, each device consumes about 0.1–0.2 units of anti?fog cleaning cloth annually.
