The global Artificial Turf Cleaning Machine market size is predicted to grow from US$ 559 million in 2025 to US$ 1018 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 9.0% from 2026 to 2032.

An Artificial Turf Cleaning Machine is a specialized device used to clean, brush, decompact, regrain and maintain synthetic turf fields in sports facilities, schools, commercial parks, public recreation areas and residential landscapes. It includes tow-behind groomers, self-propelled electric cleaners, compact manual units and robotic cleaners. In 2025, the global average blended unit value is approximately US$4,200, with total shipments reaching 136,000 units. Gross margins range from 28%–45%, supported by niche mechanical design, custom field requirements and professional maintenance demand. Upstream components include motors, belts, brushes, filters, metal frames and batteries; midstream manufacturers assemble cleaning modules, decompacting tools, propulsion systems and dust/debris collectors; downstream customers include sports stadiums, schools, landscaping companies, turf installers and municipal facilities.

The artificial turf cleaning market is driven by the global expansion of synthetic sports fields, stricter maintenance standards and rising adoption of robotic cleaning solutions. Schools and municipal sports facilities remain the largest demand sources, while commercial complexes and rooftop turf installations are emerging as fast-growing segments. Sustainability and extended turf lifespan will further accelerate equipment replacement cycles.
