Acrylic paint is a fast-drying paint made of pigment suspended in acrylic polymer emulsion and plasticizers, silicone oils, defoamers, stabilizers, or metal soaps. Most acrylic paints are water-based, but become water-resistant when dry. Depending on how much the paint is diluted with water, or modified with acrylic gels, mediums, or pastes, the finished acrylic painting can resemble a watercolor, a gouache, or an oil painting, or have its own unique characteristics not attainable with other media. Artist grade acrylic paints (professional acrylics) are created and designed to resist chemical reactions from exposure to water, ultraviolet light, and oxygen. Professional-grade acrylics have the most pigment, which allows for more medium manipulation and limits the color shift when mixed with other colors or after drying.

Global core artist grade acrylic paints manufacturers include Colart, Daler-Rowney etc. The top 5 companies hold a share about 30%. Europe is the largest market, with a share about 40%, followed by North America and Asia Pacific with the share about 35% and 12%. In terms of product, heavy-body acrylics is the largest segment, with a share over 55%. And in terms of application, the largest application is professional artist, followed by amateur artist.
