The global Automatic Asparagus Peeling Machine market size is predicted to grow from US$ 73.37 million in 2025 to US$ 104 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.2% from 2026 to 2032.

An automatic asparagus peeling machine is a food processing device that uses mechanical and sensor technology to automatically remove the outer skin of asparagus. It aims to replace traditional manual labor, improving the efficiency, consistency, and hygiene standards of asparagus processing (especially white asparagus or thick-stemmed green asparagus). Demand stems from the global asparagus industry's (especially in traditional white asparagus consumption areas) urgent focus on processing efficiency, standardization, and labor costs. Its upstream supply chain includes specialized machinery manufacturing (precision cutting tools, food-grade conveying and clamping systems, control units) and sensing technologies (visual recognition, pressure sensors); downstream, it directly serves large-scale farms, specialized agricultural product processing plants, canned/frozen food manufacturers, and high-end supermarkets, and is embedded in industrialized processing flows from field harvesting, grading and cleaning to peeling, cutting, packaging, and sterilization. In 2025, the production volume of automatic asparagus peeling machines is estimated at approximately 15,000 units, with an average selling price of approximately US$5,000 per unit, a gross profit margin of approximately 35%, and a single-line capacity of approximately 1,000 units per year.
