The global Automatic Dipping Machine market size is predicted to grow from US$ 1455 million in 2025 to US$ 2959 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 10.9% from 2026 to 2032.

A dip coater is a device used to apply a coating solution to a substrate. The dip coating method is to dip the substrate into the coating solution and then take it out. This process enables the dip coater to evenly coat the substrate.

With the rapid development of industrial Internet and intelligent manufacturing, automatic dip coating machines will transform towards digitalization and networking. By introducing advanced technologies such as Internet of Things technology and cloud computing, functions such as remote monitoring, fault warning and data analysis of equipment can be realized. This can not only improve the reliability and stability of equipment, but also provide customers with more convenient and efficient services. At the same time, digitalization and networking transformation will also promote the coordinated operation of automatic dip coating machines and upstream and downstream equipment, and improve the efficiency and benefits of the entire coating production line.
