Aviation accident insurance is the abbreviation of personal accident insurance for air passengers. It is a highly targeted commercial insurance specifically designed by insurance companies for air passengers. Its insurance period starts when the insured passenger enters the door of the flight specified on the insurance policy and ends when he arrives at the port of destination and exits the door. Its insurance liability is that the insured passenger is in the process of boarding, taxiing, flying, landing, that is, when the insured person is killed or disabled due to personal injury due to an aircraft accident within the insurance period, the insurance company shall specify in accordance with the insurance clauses. The insurance amount pays death insurance money, or disability insurance money according to the proportion of the payment corresponding to the physical disability.
