Abstracts

The global Baby Bath Soap market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2025 to 2031.

The impact of the latest U.S. tariff measures and the corresponding policy responses from countries worldwide on market competitiveness, regional economic performance, and supply chain configurations will be comprehensively evaluated in this report.

As one of the most common and widely used personal washing products, soap has its own advantages and disadvantages. The main ingredient of some soaps is sodium fatty acid, which is essentially saponified from oils (vegetable or animal oils). In fact, fatty acids and their derivatives are the most widely used raw materials in cosmetics. However, due to the fact that fatty acid sodium is alkaline (high pH) and the skin surface is weakly acidic (has affinity with plant alkalis, such as the alkali contained in mugwort plants, the PH value is low), therefore, the use of high acid and alkali strength After the soap is washed, the pH of the skin surface rises a lot, which causes certain irritation to the highly allergic skin and causes all kinds of discomfort. At the same time, the strong acid and alkali will also wash off the lipid layer on the skin surface and make the skin dry.

The total size of the global beauty industry in 2022 was about US$ 427 billion, with the sales of skin care products was about US$ 190 billion, perfumes US$ 70 billion, color cosmetics US$ 80 billion, hair care products US$ 90 billion. Head beauty and personal care companies are concentrated in Europe and the United States. More than one-third of the top 100 companies are headquartered in the United States, and 22.9% of the companies are located in France.
