A baby self-training toothbrush is a specially designed oral care tool intended for infants and young children who are beginning to explore independent oral hygiene practices. Unlike traditional toothbrushes, a self-training toothbrush often features a unique design that encourages self-use and helps babies develop motor skills. It typically includes a soft, baby-friendly bristle configuration and a handle that is easy for little hands to grasp. Some baby self-training toothbrushes may incorporate additional features, such as teething-friendly textures or gum massagers, providing a soothing experience for babies during the teething process. The purpose of these toothbrushes is to instill positive oral care habits from an early age and promote a sense of independence in children as they learn to brush their teeth. Parents can supervise and assist during the initial stages of use until the child becomes more adept at using the self-training toothbrush on their own.

The global Baby Self Training Toothbrush market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2023 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2024 to 2030.
