The global Carpet Sweeper market size is predicted to grow from US$ 10180 million in 2025 to US$ 13460 million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.8% from 2025 to 2031.

The carpet sweeper is the originator of the vacuum cleaner. In the 1870s, the Michigan scientist Melville Bissell invented a machine that could remove dust from the carpet because of a migraine. In 1876, the 'Great Falls' brand carpet sweeper invented by Melville Bissell was put on the market and was favored.

The market for carpet sweepers has seen a resurgence in recent years due to several factors. Firstly, they offer a convenient and efficient way to maintain cleanliness between vacuuming sessions. They are lightweight and easy to maneuver, making them ideal for quick touch-ups or cleaning smaller areas. Another factor driving the market is the increasing demand for eco-friendly and sustainable cleaning solutions. Carpet sweepers do not require electricity or batteries, making them a greener alternative to electric vacuum cleaners. They also produce less noise and are generally easier to maintain. The Carpet Sweeper market caters to a wide range of customers, including households, commercial establishments, and those looking for a compact and portable cleaning solution. Overall, the market is driven by the convenience, eco-friendliness, and efficiency that carpet sweepers provide for maintaining clean carpets and floors.
