The global Centerless Grinding Machine market size is predicted to grow from US$ 750 million in 2025 to US$ 918 million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 3.4% from 2025 to 2031.

Centerless grinding is a machining process that uses abrasive cutting to remove material from a work piece. Centerless grinding differs from centered grinding operations in that no spindle or fixture is used to locate and secure the work piece; the work piece is secured between two rotary grinding wheels, and the speed of their rotation relative to each other determines the rate at which material is removed from the work piece.

Centerless grinding is typically used in preference to other grinding processes for operations where many parts must be processed in a short time.

Centerless grinding uses purpose-built centerless grinding machines. Such a machine will always include the grinding wheel, regulating wheel, and some means of supporting a work piece. Modern machines involve computer numerical control to allow automation and improve precision. Grinding wheels are interchangeable, to allow for different grits and shapes. Machines designed to accommodate through-feed grinding operations will allow the angle of the regulating wheel to be adjusted, to accommodate parts of different sizes.

Global Centerless Grinding Machine key players include Schaudt Mikrosa, Koyo Machinery, JUNKER, Micron Machinery, Hanwha Machinery, etc. Global five four manufacturers hold a share over 35%.

Europe is the largest market, with a share over 30%, followed by North America and China, both have a share over 35%.

In terms of product, Universal is the largest segment, with a share over 40%. And in terms of application, the largest application is Engineering Machinery, followed by Automobile, Aerospace, etc.
