A chain hotel refers to a hotel that operates in a franchise business model. Chain hotels generally have a national unified brand image recognition system, a national unified membership system and a marketing system, and the price is very competitive compared to mass consumption.

The main trend of the hotel chain industry development, from star-rated hotels to budget hotels to youth hostels, theme hotels, boutique hotels, the development model and recognition of hotel chains have already gained popularity.

Compared with individual hotels, hotel chains have greater competitive advantages in terms of decoration, service and reputation, squeezing the survival and development space of individual hotels everywhere. Booking is convenient and fast, prices are transparent, bargaining at the front desk is not required, cleanliness, service and safety are guaranteed, and the cost performance is relatively high, so chain hotels are a good choice for business trips and tourist accommodation.
