Chondroitin sulfate is a glycosaminoglycan with a sulfate group, which is polymerized from N-acetylgalactosamine and glucuronic acid. Chondroitin sulfate is one of the components of the extracellular matrix in connective tissue, and it is contained in skin, bone, cartilage, tendons, and ligaments. Chondroitin sulfate in cartilage provides cartilage with the ability to resist mechanical compression.

Chondroitin sulfate is gaining popularity among various dietary supplement manufacturers due to its joint tissue elasticity and water retention properties. It is commonly used to improve the quality of synovial tissue and articular cartilage.

Consumers are increasingly aware of the benefits of chondroitin sulfate in muscle and bone treatments. Manufacturers are focusing on older consumers, who commonly suffer from bone problems. Rising dominance of chondroitin sulfate is expected to increase its demand among pharmaceutical and nutraceutical manufacturers globally.
