According to the International Organization for Standardization (ISO), “cleanrooms are zones where contaminants in the air are highly controlled.” Ceilings in cleanrooms should be designed to follow ISO 14644-1 “Cleanrooms and associated controlled environments-Part 1: Classification of air cleanliness by particle concentration.” This standard specifies the classification of air cleanliness in terms of concentration of airborne particles in cleanrooms and controlled environments. The particle size is measured in microns and the concentration in particles per cubic meters. The ISO cleanroom classifications look at all particles starting at 0.1 microns up to 5 microns.
