A coffee processing machine refers to a piece of equipment used in the coffee industry for the various stages involved in turning harvested coffee cherries into green coffee beans ready for roasting. These machines are essential in coffee processing, helping to remove the outer layers of the cherries, pulp, and parchment, and separate the beans from any impurities. They play a crucial role in determining the quality and consistency of coffee beans.

The global market for coffee processing machines has seen growth in response to the increasing global demand for coffee. The coffee industry depends on efficient and effective processing machinery to produce high-quality beans. The market includes a range of machines, from small-scale devices suitable for small coffee farms to large-scale industrial equipment for commercial coffee production.
