Abstracts

The global Collection Outsourcing Service market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2026 to 2032.

The driving factors for collection outsourcing services mainly include the following aspects:

Market demand: With the development of the economy and the increase in consumption, the problem of overdue debt is becoming more and more common, so the demand for outsourcing collection services is also increasing. Banks and other financial institutions need professional collection outsourcing services to help them solve overdue debt problems and improve asset quality.

Professional division of labor: With the refinement of social division of labor, collection outsourcing services have gradually become more professional. Professional collection outsourcing service agencies usually have professional collection teams, advanced technical means and rich industry experience, and can solve overdue debt problems more efficiently and professionally.

Cost considerations: For banks and other financial institutions, setting up their own collection departments requires investing a lot of manpower, material and financial resources. Outsourcing these businesses to professional collection outsourcing service agencies can reduce costs and improve efficiency.

Legal regulations and policy environment: With the continuous improvement of legal regulations and policy environment, collection outsourcing services are gradually
