After professional cleaning staff arrive at the commercial kitchen, they will first check the overall condition of the kitchen, including the use of equipment, the degree of oil pollution, sanitary dead corners, etc., and then formulate a detailed cleaning plan and quotation based on the scale and degree of pollution of the kitchen. According to the cleaning needs, various professional cleaning tools are prepared, such as high-pressure water guns, steam cleaners, detergents, disinfectants, brushes, rags, etc., to ensure the efficiency and safety of the cleaning work. Regular professional cleaning can effectively reduce the breeding of bacteria, viruses and pests, reduce the risk of food contamination, and ensure food safety.
