Commercial stacked laundry refers to a type of laundry equipment commonly used in commercial settings such as laundromats, multi-housing units, and on-premises laundry facilities in businesses. It typically consists of a stackable washer and dryer unit designed for heavy-duty use in commercial or industrial environments.

The stacked configuration involves placing the dryer unit on top of the washer unit, allowing for efficient use of space, especially in areas with limited floor space. This design is particularly popular in multi-housing units, such as apartment buildings or dormitories, where maximizing floor space is essential.

Commercial stacked laundry equipment is built to withstand heavy usage and is often designed with enhanced durability, larger capacity, and faster cycle times compared to residential laundry machines. These stacked units are equipped with robust components to handle the high volume of laundry typically encountered in commercial applications.

The global Commercial Stacked Laundry market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2023 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2024 to 2030.
