Concrete and landscape sealers are substances applied to concrete surfaces, such as driveways, sidewalks, patios, and retaining walls, as well as landscape features like decorative rocks, to protect them from damage and enhance their appearance. These sealers come in various forms, including water-based, solvent-based, and penetrating sealers, each offering different levels of protection and durability. Water-based sealers are environmentally friendly and easy to apply, making them popular for residential use. They provide a clear finish that enhances the natural color of the concrete or landscape feature while offering protection against water, UV rays, and stains. Solvent-based sealers penetrate deeper into the surface, offering stronger protection against stains, oil, and chemicals. They can also enhance the color of the concrete or landscape feature, giving it a glossy or matte finish. Penetrating sealers, also known as impregnating sealers, penetrate deep into the concrete or landscape material, forming a chemical barrier that repels water and stains while allowing the surface to breathe. They are typically used on porous surfaces like concrete pavers, bricks, and natural stones.

The global Concrete and Landscape Sealer market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2024 to 2030.
