Abstracts

The global Corona Surface Treatment Equipment market size is predicted to grow from US$ 147 million in 2025 to US$ 197 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.4% from 2026 to 2032.

Corona Surface Treatment Equipment is an industrial system designed to modify the surface properties of materials using high-voltage, high-frequency electrical discharge (known as corona discharge). The equipment functions by generating a low-temperature plasma field between an electrode and a grounded roller. As the substrate (such as plastic films, foils, or paper) passes through this discharge, the reactive species—primarily ozone and ions—bombard the surface, breaking molecular chains and creating polar oxidation sites. This process significantly increases the material's surface energy and wettability, ensuring optimal adhesion for inks, coatings, adhesives, and laminates. In 2025, global Corona Surface Treatment Equipment production reached approximately 50,000 units and average price was 3,000 USD.

United States market for Corona Surface Treatment Equipment is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
