Abstracts

The global Cosmetic Outsourcing market size is predicted to grow from US$ 31020 million in 2025 to US$ 41440 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.3% from 2026 to 2032.

Cosmetic outsourcing includes cosmetics OEM and ODM, which allows the brand Cosmetic firm to produce (either as a supplement or solely) without having to engage in the organization or running of a factory. Cosmetics OEM and ODM have grown in size in recent years and many are now sufficient in size to handle production for multiple clients, often providing a large portion of overall production, the industry's gross profit margin is 25.7%.

Makeup can make up for personal facial defects and beautify personal appearance. It is an effective way to improve personal appearance and temperament. With the improvement of living standards, the Chinese people pay more and more attention to and have higher requirements for their own image. More and more consumers begin to improve their image through makeup, and even make makeup a habit in daily life. Especially among young people born in the 1990s and 2000s, influenced by various factors such as Internet culture, self-media videos, and personal photography, the proportion of cosmetics consumers has increased significantly, and the demand for cosmetics products has maintained a year-on-year growth trend. At the same time, with the continuous popularization and maturity of makeup skills, consumers' demand for makeup products has become more diversified and personalized, and they tend to buy makeup products suitable for different seasons, skin types, ages and occasions to achieve better makeup effects. Therefore, the continuous enhancement of consumers' awareness of makeup has continuously increased the frequency of their cosmetics purchases and expanded the overall market demand for cosmetics.

The sustained and stable development of the economy is a strong guarantee for the rapid growth of the cosmetics industry. Different from general daily necessities, the proportion of cosmetics consumers is usually higher among consumers with better economic conditions. The sustained development of the national economy, the continuous improvement of residents' income level, the national policy of stimulating domestic demand, and the development of urbanization have provided a good environment and market space for the rapid development of the cosmetics industry. With the improvement of income level, residents' consumption psychology and demand for cosmetics have begun to show diversified and personalized characteristics, and the trend of consumption upgrading has gradually emerged. Consumers no longer blindly pursue low prices, but begin to pay more attention to the product quality and service experience of cosmetics. The recognition of product brand value has gradually increased, and the consumer group of high-end products has expanded, which has promoted the healthy and sustainable development of the cosmetics industry.

The rise of e-commerce, especially social e-commerce and live e-commerce, has promoted the development of the cosmetics industry. Many emerging brands sell through e-commerce platforms, and OEM/ODM merchants can quickly respond to the needs of these brands and provide efficient production and delivery services. Social media also helps new brands expand their popularity, which promotes the demand for OEM/ODM manufacturers, especially in the case of rapid brand expansion, OEM/ODM can meet the needs of large-scale production.
