However, product differentiation, reducing costs, and supply chain optimization remain crucial for the widespread adoption of Cross-border E-commerce. Market players need to invest in research and development, forge strategic partnerships, and align their offerings with evolving consumer preferences to capitalize on the immense opportunities presented by the Cross-border E-commerce market.

The Internet allows consumers to shop online globally, purchasing products and services that may be unavailable or prohibitively expensive in their home countries from websites in other countries and from marketplaces such as Alibaba Group's Tmall.com that host multinational merchants. This phenomenon, known as cross-border e-commerce or international e-commerce, is growing as advancing technologies help reduce problems associated with international payments, long shipping times and language barriers – making it possible to shop online anywhere and everywhere by laptop and smartphone.

According to International Telecommunication Union (ITU), the global Internet users (online population) were more than 5 billion. And the number of online shoppers was also increasing. In 2022, the global e-commerce market penetration rate increased to 19.7%, and the e-commerce market reached $5.5 trillion. At the same time, the Asian e-commerce market ranked at the top of the revenue ranking, which has reached $1.8 trillion. According to the National Bureau of Statistics, China was the largest online retail market in 2022, with online retail sales of 13.79 trillion yuan and a year-on-year increase of 4%. Among them, the online retail sales of physical goods were 11.96 trillion yuan, with a year-on-year increase of 6.2%, which accounted for 27.2% of the total retail sales of consumer goods.
