The global Cured Graphite Felt market size is predicted to grow from US$ 193 million in 2025 to US$ 270 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.0% from 2026 to 2032.

Cured graphite felt is a graphite felt material that has undergone special curing treatment. Graphite felt is a felt-like material made from carbon fibers as the basic raw material, which is processed through techniques such as needle punching. On this basis, cured graphite felt employs curing processes such as impregnation and hot pressing to tightly bond the binder with the graphite felt, thereby significantly enhancing its mechanical properties and stability. Compared to graphite soft felt, this material exhibits higher strength and hardness while retaining the excellent thermal conductivity and high temperature resistance of graphite materials.
