Data Center Management Service refers to a comprehensive, standardized maintenance and optimization solution provided by professional service providers for data center infrastructure, IT assets, and daily operations. This service aims to ensure the continuous, stable, and efficient operation of data centers while reducing the cost and technical risks associated with enterprises building their own operations and maintenance teams. Its core services cover infrastructure management, IT operations and maintenance management, asset management, security management, and capacity and performance optimization. Service providers typically rely on professional operations and maintenance teams, automated monitoring platforms, and standardized processes to provide 24/7 on-site or remote support, helping enterprises focus on their core business and ensuring data center availability and compliance. DCMS is widely used in critical sectors such as government, finance, internet, and manufacturing.

The global Data Center Management Service market is steadily growing alongside the scaling up of data centers, the expansion of edge nodes, and the increasing complexity of operations and maintenance. North America and Europe, as mature markets, lead in infrastructure hosting, remote monitoring and management, and full-stack operations and maintenance services, leveraging their leading ITIL operational systems, stringent service level agreements, and highly professional service ecosystems. The Asia-Pacific region is the fastest-growing and most promising sector, with China and Southeast Asian countries experiencing rapid adoption of third-party operations and maintenance services, capacity optimization, and asset management services, driven by the wave of new data center construction, enterprise digital transformation, and the demand for specialized division of labor. Local service providers are rapidly emerging. The Middle East and Africa focus on critical infrastructure hosting and localized technical support. The industry as a whole is accelerating its evolution towards AIOps intelligent operations and maintenance, unified edge node management, and carbon-neutral operations.
