A dental computed radiography (CR) scanner is a digital imaging device used in dentistry to capture X-ray images of a patient's teeth and oral structures. Unlike traditional film-based X-rays, a CR scanner uses a sensor to capture the X-ray image, which is then processed and displayed on a computer screen. This allows for immediate visualization, enhancement, and storage of the images, as well as easier sharing with patients and other healthcare professionals. CR scanners offer several benefits over traditional film, including reduced radiation exposure, faster image acquisition, and the ability to easily manipulate and analyze images.

The global Dental CR Scanner market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2024 to 2030.
