To address the systemic challenges faced by enterprises under technological disruption, such as unclear strategic direction, difficulties in technology selection, rigid organizational processes, and difficulty in unlocking data value, digital transformation consulting services have emerged. Since the early 21st century, with the deep integration of information technology into business operations and the explosive growth of new-generation digital technologies such as cloud computing, big data, and artificial intelligence, this service has evolved from early information system implementation consulting to a comprehensive intellectual service integrating strategic planning, technology architecture, business process reengineering, organizational change, and data intelligence. Currently, digital transformation consulting services have developed into a full-cycle support system covering top-level design, path planning, platform construction, operational optimization, and continuous innovation. It is widely used in manufacturing upgrades, financial service innovation, retail transformation, smart city construction, and public service improvement. It can systematically guide enterprises to clarify transformation logic, avoid implementation risks, activate data elements, and build sustainable digital competitiveness, becoming a key guiding force for various organizations to achieve strategic reshaping and value growth in the digital economy era.
