Double sided tablet press machine is equipment used in pharmaceutical and related industries to produce tablets. These machines are designed to compress powder or granular ingredients into tablets of uniform size, shape and weight. 'Double-sided' means these machines have two sets of tools or dies that compress the material into tablets simultaneously on both sides of the machine. This increases the machine's production capacity compared to single-sided tablet presses, as it can produce two tablets per compression cycle. The capacity, speed and functionality of these machines may vary depending on the specific needs of the production process.
