Abstracts

The global Electric Oral Care Products market size is predicted to grow from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million in 2031; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of % from 2025 to 2031.

The impact of the latest U.S. tariff measures and the corresponding policy responses from countries worldwide on market competitiveness, regional economic performance, and supply chain configurations will be comprehensively evaluated in this report.

Electric oral care products are used to maintain oral hygiene. Most of the electric oral care products use battery to store electricity. They possess advanced functionality as compared to their traditional counterparts; for example, electric toothbrushes alert the user if the user is applying too much pressure on the teeth. The traditional non-electric toothbrushes do not have this feature.

According to our research, the global market for medical devices is estimated at US$ 603 billion in the year 2023, and will be growing at a CAGR of 5% during next six years. The global healthcare spending contributes to occupy 10% of the global GDP and is continuously rising in recent years due to the increasing health needs of the aging population, the growing prevalence of chronic and infectious diseases and the expansion of emerging markets. The medical devices market plays a significant role in the healthcare industry. The market is driven by several factors, including the increasing demand for advanced healthcare services globally, advancements in medical technology, growing geriatric population, rising healthcare expenditure, and increasing awareness about early disease diagnosis and treatment.
