The global Emery Roller Rice Mill market size is predicted to grow from US$ 260 million in 2025 to US$ 341 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 4.0% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2024, global Emery Roller Rice Mill production reached approximately 7632 units, with an average global market price of around K US$ 33.5 per unit. An emery roller rice mill is a type of rice milling machine that utilizes a rotating emery roller as its core working component. The emery roller is sintered from abrasive grains (such as silicon carbide or emery) and a bonding agent, featuring hard, sharp grits and uniform pores on its surface. During operation, paddy or brown rice is subjected to the grinding action of the high-speed rotating emery roller, combined with the comprehensive friction and extrusion from components like the milling blade and pressure door, which strips off the bran layer (rice bran) from the kernel. Known for its strong grinding characteristics, this type of mill is particularly suitable for processing long-grain indica rice with high strength or for achieving high-precision milling of brown rice. It offers a high rice yield, but the milled rice surface is typically slightly rougher, and the temperature increase of the rice is more noticeable.

United States market for Emery Roller Rice Mill is estimated to increase from US$ million in 2025 to US$ million by 2032, at a CAGR of % from 2026 through 2032.
