Enterprise offsite record management services are a comprehensive, end-to-end physical and digital information asset custody solution provided by professional third-party providers to various organizations. The development of this service market is primarily driven by the increasing pressure on local storage due to the continuous growth of enterprise data volumes, heightened risk awareness due to frequent physical disasters and cybersecurity incidents, increasingly stringent global and industry regulatory compliance requirements, enterprises' need to reduce costs and increase efficiency, and a strong emphasis on business continuity and resilience.

The market for off-site record management services has seen continuous growth in recent years, primarily driven by the rapid increase in the scale of corporate data and archives, stricter regulatory compliance requirements, and rising demands for digital transformation. Industries such as finance, healthcare, law, government, and manufacturing require long-term preservation of contracts, financial, human resources, audit, and business records, leading to increasingly stringent requirements for secure storage, rapid access, and compliance management. As data security, privacy protection, and audit regulations continue to improve, more and more companies are choosing to outsource their record storage and management to professional service providers to reduce compliance risks and improve management efficiency. At the same time, rising office space costs and the widespread adoption of remote work have also driven increased demand for off-site file hosting, digital scanning, and cloud-based record management. Increased disaster recovery needs and business continuity management awareness are fueling the rapid development of high-security warehouses, off-site backups, and long-term archive preservation services. The advancements in AI recognition, OCR scanning, intelligent retrieval, and digital archiving technologies are further propelling the continuous upgrading of off-site record management services towards intelligence, integration, and data-driven approaches.
