A filter foam sheet is a porous, sheet-shaped material designed for filtering specific substances out of fluids, including both liquids and gases.

Made primarily from flexible polymer materials like polyurethane or polyester, these sheets feature a network of fine pores capable of trapping the substances they're designed to filter. Available in a range of thicknesses and densities, filter foam sheets are tailored for various uses, from liquid filtration and air particle capture to sound and vibration absorption.

Within air conditioning units and air purifiers, filter foam sheets play a crucial role in removing particles and pollen to ensure the provision of clean air. In the automotive and machinery sectors, they are instrumental in filtering out impurities and foreign particles, thus facilitating the smooth operation of engines and mechanical components.

The global Filter Foam Sheet market size is projected to grow from US$ million in 2024 to US$ million in 2030; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of %from 2024 to 2030.
