The global Financial Business Process Outsourcing (BPO) market size is predicted to grow from US$ 227540 million in 2025 to US$ 365900 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 7.2% from 2026 to 2032.

Financial services outsourcing involves enterprises transferring core functions such as information system construction, application operation and maintenance, and process optimization to external professional service providers (contractors) for processing, aiming to reduce costs, optimize industrial layout and enhance core competitiveness. Among them, financial services outsourcing specifically refers to financial institutions' continued reliance on external service providers to take over business operations that were originally performed internally. According to the business scope, financial services outsourcing can be further refined into three categories: ITO, BPO and KPO.

Financial BPO refers to the outsourcing of non-core process-based businesses to service providers. Business types mainly include data processing, call services, cash management, credit card services, etc.
