The global Floor Cleaning Equipment Parts market size is predicted to grow from US$ 1526 million in 2025 to US$ 2378 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 6.5% from 2026 to 2032.

In 2025, global Floor Cleaning Equipment Parts production reached approximately 13,000 K units, with an average global market price of around 120 US$/unit.

Floor Cleaning Equipment Parts are core functional and structural components designed and manufactured for various floor cleaning machines, including automatic scrubbers, sweepers, vacuum cleaners, carpet extractors, and industrial cleaning equipment. These parts support the normal operation, cleaning efficiency, durability, and safety of the whole machine, covering motor components, brush assemblies, suction systems, water tanks, pipelines, batteries, chargers, control modules, wheels, bearings, seals, and other wearing parts and replacement parts.

Demand for floor cleaning equipment parts is steadily driven by the widespread use of commercial and industrial floor cleaning machines, the continuous expansion of the professional cleaning service market, and the increasing demand for equipment maintenance and replacement of wearing parts. Business opportunities lie in the high growth of intelligent and autonomous cleaning equipment, the trend of modular and lightweight component design, the demand for high-performance and long-life wearing parts, as well as the market space brought by after-sales service, localized supply, and global export of compatible and customized parts.
