The global Foaming Citrus Degreaser market size is predicted to grow from US$ 635 million in 2025 to US$ 911 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 5.4% from 2026 to 2032.

Foaming Citrus Degreaser is a biodegradable cleaning solution formulated with natural citrus terpenes—primarily d-limonene—combined with surfactants, emulsifiers, and alkaline builders to remove grease, oil, tar, and carbon deposits from metal, plastic, and painted surfaces. Its foaming action enhances surface contact and dwell time, allowing effective breakdown of hydrocarbons without harsh solvents. The supply chain begins with upstream sourcing of citrus peel oils from orange and lemon processing byproducts, followed by midstream blending at chemical formulation plants that incorporate surfactants, stabilizers, and propellants (for aerosol types). Downstream, the finished degreasers are packaged in aerosol cans, trigger sprayers, or bulk containers and distributed through industrial maintenance suppliers, janitorial product distributors, and automotive care retailers serving manufacturing, food processing, transportation, and facility maintenance sectors. In 2024, global Foaming Citrus Degreasers recorded an annual output of about 195,000 tons with a production capacity near 240,000 tons, priced between USD 2,100 and 4,800 per ton, achieving an average gross margin of 30%.
