Abstracts

The global Frozen Fruit Puree market size is predicted to grow from US$ 9818 million in 2025 to US$ 16202 million in 2032; it is expected to grow at a CAGR of 7.5% from 2026 to 2032.

Frozen Fruit Puree refers to processed fruit products made by crushing fresh fruits into puree, followed by pasteurization and rapid freezing to preserve flavor, color and nutritional value. These products are widely used in beverages, dairy products, bakery, baby food, desserts and foodservice applications. In 2025, the global average price of frozen fruit puree is approximately US$1,580 per ton, with total shipments reaching 6.35 million tons. Gross margins typically range from 18%–35%, influenced by raw fruit costs, cold-chain logistics, processing efficiency and customer mix. The supply chain includes upstream fruit farming and sourcing, midstream washing, peeling, pulping, pasteurization and freezing, and downstream applications across beverage manufacturers, dairy companies, food processors and foodservice operators.

The frozen fruit puree market continues to expand as demand for natural, clean-label and fruit-based ingredients increases across beverage, dairy and foodservice sectors. Smoothies, functional drinks and baby food remain key growth drivers. Improved cold-chain infrastructure and diversified fruit sourcing will support steady growth through 2031.
