The ginger oil cold pressed is made from ginger as raw material and processed by pressing, centrifugal separation and other processes. It contains various active ingredients such as gingerol, curcumin, and gingerol.

The ginger oil cold pressed is not processed at high temperatures during the production process, so it has a strong fresh ginger flavor. The main uses of the ginger oil cold pressed are food spices and medicinal spices. Since the ginger oil cold pressed is not completely volatile, it is not suitable for use as a cosmetic flavoring.
