Grape Juice Concentrate is a natural liquid or viscous product derived from the juice of mature, sound grapes (typically Vitis vinifera or Vitis labrusca varieties) by removing a significant portion of the water content through physical processes, primarily vacuum evaporation at low temperatures. This process is designed to concentrate the grape's inherent sugars, acidity, color, and natural flavor components while minimizing thermal degradation of its sensory characteristics. Typically containing no added artificial flavors or colors, the product is standardized to a concentration of 65° to 68° Brix, facilitating efficient long-distance transport, stable storage, and subsequent dilution for use in beverages, winemaking, as a natural sweetener, or as a functional ingredient in food manufacturing.

Global Grape Juice Concentrate key players include JUVIAR, Jucosol, Vina montpellier, ENAV S.A., and AGRANA Beteiligungs-AG etc. Global top five players hold a share about 10%. Europe is the largest market, with a share about 35%, followed by North America and China, both have a share about 40 percent.
