A graphite hard felt sheet is a type of material that is made from compressed and bonded graphite fibers. It is known for its high temperature resistance, excellent thermal conductivity, and low friction properties. Graphite hard felt sheets are commonly used in high temperature applications such as gaskets, seals, and insulation. They are also used in various industrial applications where a durable and heat-resistant material is required.

Graphite hard felt sheets are experiencing a growing trend in the market due to their high durability, heat resistance, and excellent thermal conductivity properties. These sheets are being increasingly used in various industries such as automotive, aerospace, and electronics for applications like gasketing, sealing, and insulation. The demand for graphite hard felt sheets is also driven by the increasing focus on energy efficiency and sustainability, as they are a more environmentally friendly alternative to traditional materials. Additionally, advancements in manufacturing technologies have led to the development of thinner and lighter graphite hard felt sheets, further expanding their applications in different industries.
