Hair Pomade typically has a thick, gel-like or waxy consistency. It is quite different from other hair products like gels or mousses, which are usually water-based and have a lighter texture. Pomade provides a strong hold, which means it can keep your hair in place throughout the day. Depending on the type of pomade, it can offer different levels of hold, ranging from light to heavy. Pomades also provide a shiny finish to the hair, which can range from a subtle shine to a high-gloss shine. Pomade is applied to dry hair. Users take a small amount and rub it between their palms to warm it up and make it easier to distribute through the hair. Then, they apply it evenly, styling the hair as desired.
